

This is a printer friendly version of an article from the Courier-Post
To print this article open the file menu and choose Print.

Back

'C-P' article prompts discussion on e-mail

Tonight on CN8's Money Matters Today, Ken Blackwell, senior executive consultant at Team Builders Plus in Cherry Hill, Dorothy Stubblebine of DJS Associates, and Diane Hamilton of Rowan University, will discuss the use of e-mail in the workplace.

The show was inspired by a March 12 Courier-Post report, "Crossing the Line," which explored the alleged misuse of e-mail and the Internet at the Camden County Sheriff's Office.

The show will first air from 8 to 8:30 p.m. and will re-air Thursday from 8 to 8:30 a.m. The program will also air online at www.cn8.tv at those times.

Published: March 22, 2006 3:00AM